Good Practices Database

This database is a collection of good practices selected in the course of INTERREG IVC projects. Please note that the project partners fill in the information themselves.

With this database we want to give you and other policymakers an access to the ideas and techniques successfully put in place in other European regions. You can contact specific people for more details about a practice you find interesting and ask about the conditions for transfer.

It is difficult to keeping such information up to date. But we try to update it quarterly. Our aim is to make this database as useful and relevant for all local, regional and national policymakers as possible.

Use the search criteria below to filter the good practices by your area of interest (thematic or geographic). You can also download all available good practices in excel.
